

Coalition for a United Future (CUF)—Combating Trump and International Right-Wing Populism
Koalition für eine vereinigte Zukunft (KVZ)—Bekämpfung von Trumpf und internationalem Rechtspopulismus

AS A COALITION of like-minded and like-spirited global citizens actively engaged in the fight for a just society and against the threat of far-right populism, we are —Uniting established groups in Berlin, German and non-German, to raise an international voice that offers a message of political hope and solidarity, with the understanding that an injury to one person is an injury to us all;

—Expanding our numbers with people of any nationality, background, and identity who are committed to concrete actions against the threat of the global far-right and its divisive political, social, and cultural agenda;

—Speaking up against injustice wherever it occurs, supporting our brothers and sisters in communities at home and abroad, and confronting those twin weapons—hate and fear—too often used against the marginalised in society.

AS A COALITION of people who come from many countries and backgrounds, we believe in

An equitable and sustainable economy that provides equal opportunities of employment and pay, healthcare and social services, and education for everyone;

A society that includes everyone without discrimination based on gender, race, belief, sexual orientation, physical and cognitive abilities, or any other difference;

A world that prioritizes democracy and peace, human dignity and rights, environmental responsibility and sustainability, and respect for international law.

WE ARE FIGHTING—TOGETHER—FOR THE FUTURE. JOIN THE COALITION!

Far-right populism and nationalism are on the march around the world. Jo Cox, a member of parliament in the United Kingdom, was murdered by a far-right nationalist. The Brexit referendum was followed by a fivefold increase in racist and xenophobic attacks. The campaign and election of Donald Trump in the United States was supported by far-right populists who are openly building ties with France's Front National and Germany's Alternative für Deutschland (AfD) to help these groups win elections. Women's and minorities' rights are being undermined. The numbers of refugees continue to grow, and little is being done to protect these people from war and hardship.

United, we can stem the tide of hate and division. To this end, our coalition will —immediately, build a website to connect established groups in Berlin opposing far-right populism, and inform people like you about concrete actions, discussions, and events in which you can take part;

—on 20 January 2017, together with our partners in the German anti-war movement, organise a large, vocal protest on the day of Trump's inauguration to condemn his divisive and offensive discourse and policies;

—in March 2017, march as one to show our support for women's rights on Frauen*kampf Tag, or International Women's Day, and participate at the CommUNITY Carnival for equal rights for all;

—on 1 May 2017, together with our trade unionist partners, participate in May Day marches to address the undue weight of global austerity measures;

—in July 2017, raise a collective voice in Hamburg at the G20 Summit to let world leaders know that we stand together for a United Future.
